

This past weeks happenings:

This week was Theatre Camp! What a fun time the kids had, learning musical stories and acting them out with our Theatre Charleston Teachers! (See the pictures from the Open Class day and keep checking Facebook. I'll post some of the adorable videos soon!!)

Next weeks happenings:

Cooking Day, Art Camp, and Tie-Dye day are next week! We'll be Cooking Day on Monday. Art Camp is Monday through Wednesday, and Tie-Dye day on Thursday!

Please consider what your child wears to school this week, as children are enthusiastic painters! We will try to keep the mess to a minimum, but especially on Tie Dye Day, please have your child wear something that can get stained.

The Tie Dye stains are

NOT DESIGNED TO BE WASHABLE.

As always, let us know if you have any concerns. We're going to stay as clean as possible.

Can you believe that we've almost made it through the month of July! We hope that you all have enjoyed these camp weeks as much as your children have!

Student of the Week!

We're recognizing one student per week for the wonderful things that they say and do! Please tell your kids about it so they can get excited too!

Ansley Murphy

On our school crest, the quill and open book represent reading, writing, and language. These are truly the foundation of any education. We strive to use specific language in a Montessori School to give our youngest children an opportunity to understand meaning at a very early age. I'm sure you've heard, "my work" or "walk away please."

Ansley has delighted us all this week with her development of speech. She has been fairly quiet, but this week she's so polite using the words, "please" and "thank you". She is developing language and using it to mean respect and appreciation, and for that, she is a Montessori Superkid!

Upcoming Events!

July 27 - Cooking Day

July 27-29 - Art Camp

July 30 - Tie-Dye Day
